The Canadian Farm Builders Association (CFBA) was formed by a group of contractors who met in Guelph, Ontario on February 5th, 1980 and currently includes numerous stakeholder members within the agricultural and construction industries. The CFBA is a completely autonomous and member-financed Association.

The objectives of the CFBA are:

- to promote and advance the construction of structurally sufficient, environmentally sound, efficient farm buildings in Canada
- to promote and advance the standards of farm structures through research, education and practical application
- to encourage high quality work and fair dealing by Association members toward farmers and the general public
- to represent the Association in legislative proposals, codes, safety, labour and other matters administered by government, and
- to organize and support meetings for the exchange of information among members of the association
